

Stefano Pallanti

M.D. Ph.D – Professor of Psychiatry

Stefano Pallanti is Full Professor at the University of California Davis, Visiting Professor at Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Visiting Professor at Imperial College, London and Adjunct Associate Professor at Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai, where he served as the Founder and Director of the Center of Excellence for OCD, Impulsive and Behavioural Addiction. He is Associate Professor of Psychiatry at the University of Florence in Italy where he has been Chair of Education and Director of the Residency Program of Psychiatry since 2010.

He is an Executive Committee Member and a Scientific Board Member of the ECNP (European College of Neuropsychopharmacology) and serves in its Educational Committee. He is the Advisory Council of the International Center for Autism Research and Education (Icare4autism, New York), a Fellow and the International Advisory Board of the American Psychiatric Association for the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, for its Fourth Edition (DSM-IV) and the Obsessive Compulsive Disorder Spectrum Workgroup for the DSM-V.

He is a member of the board of directors of the International College for Obsessive- Compulsive Syndromes (ICOCS) and an Associate Director of the European Certificate, International Master Course in Affective Neuroscience. He is a provider member of the Clinical TMS Society and a member of the New York Society of Psychiatry.

Current research projects are focused on rTMS, Neuromodulation treatments and research in multi-disciplinary context in the areas of Bipolar Disorders, Treatment-resistant OCD, Behavioral Addiction, Anxiety in Psychosis, Adult ADHD in comorbidity with Psychosis, ADHD-OCD spectrum, Inflammation and Psychiatric Disorders

He is a member of the Editorial Board of the American Journal of Psychiatry and of the CNS Spectrums, where he is also a columnist and an International Editor. He is an International fellow member of American Psychiatric Publishing Inc.